

NEWPORT DAILY NEWS

MONDAY, July 15, 1867.

THE RUSSIAN TELEGRAM.

People in this country were not very extensively taken in, although the papers generally published the telegram stating that Russia had proposed a conference of the governments of that country, England, France and the United States, in relation to the affairs in Ireland. Civilization and humanity might very possibly derive some benefit from a confederation of such a character, on the disengaged affairs of that island; and it is possible the author of the telegram has hit upon the most practicable method of getting at the core of the Irish troubles. The dispatches by the cable, to-day, however, state that the telegram was a sheer fabrication, as was pretty evident upon the face of it. It was little likely to be caught in a trap of that kind, with such worthless bait.

She has had her rage kindled and the bear has not only snarled but bitten fiercely when other nations have interfered in the relations of her provinces to her; and from these passages in her history, as well as the questions arising out of intervention, during our civil war, and at other times in the history of the nations named in the telegram referred to, it is not to be expected that the bear's paw will be very readily slipped into the meshes concocted on the western shores of Europe.

Trist of Surratt.

A dispatch from Washington gives the following view of this case as it appeared on Friday:

The Criminal Court proceedings to-day were very interesting, and the evidence brought out by the defense gave great delight to the crowd of Surratt sympathizers in attendance. The city detectives, Clawson and McDevitt, were not so serviceable to the prisoner as his friends had been led to think they would be. They testified that Lloyd, the Seminole Indian-keeper, told them, on the morning after the assassination, that he knew nothing about Booth and Herold, who called during the night and got one of the entrants; but Lloyd himself admits having furnished to them, and says he did it because he was satisfied. They told a story about either Mrs. Surratt's house four hours after the murder, and swearing it thoroughly, corroborating generally what Weichmann says about that night, and contradicting him on some minor points. They also swore that Mrs. Surratt told them that John had been home for two weeks.

The witness, Miss Fitzpatrick, remembred a great deal more about affairs at the Surratt house to-day than she ever did before. Formerly, he said Atterod had been there but two or three times, and she knew nothing about him. Now she remembers that he was one of Weichmann's most intimate friends, and visited the house very often.

It was evident enough that she did her best to say everything she could to aid Surratt and to damage Weichmann. The record of her former examinations is in existence and its presentation at court at the proper time will show some aounding contradiction.

The defense finally concluded to use their Elihu allid, and accordingly the Montreal men and the New York men, ten or twelve in all, left for home this morning. The Ca-mandaigne men are still here. How they are to be used does not yet appear. There were four of the Elihu allid men examined to-day, all of whom were tailors or clothiers, and remember Surratt by the peculiar coat they say he wore. One witness can him on the 15th of April, another on 15th or 14th, another on both these days, and a fourth on the morning of the 16th. They were tolerably confident of the identity of the prisoner, but their descriptions of his actual appearance were not all correspond with his actual appearance then. It may be stated here that the prosecution admits that he was all the morning of the 16th.

The Sandwhich Islands.

From the Washington Tribune, July 13th: We learn from the most reliable source, that a reciprocity treaty has been negotiated between the Pacific States and His Majesty the King of the Hawaiian Islands. This will be a great triumph for the commercial interests of the Pacific States. The trade between them and the Sandwich Islands is already quite large, and when this treaty shall have been ratified it will give the United States considerable advantage over all other nations in dealing with the islands. We understand that the provision made for its ratification will be made from the date when its negotiations were concluded. It will scarcely be read in the Senate before the next session of Congress, and on this account the same will be allowed.

The importance of this successful stroke of diplomacy will be appreciated by all who are familiar with the position of the Hawaiian Islands and their peculiar relation to the United States. Those who ought to know whereof they speak assert that this is the first step toward the acquisition of these islands by our government. It has long been considered that our application to the United States would go far toward giving us the virtual control of the commerce of the Pacific. General Flanders has been active in the endeavor to neutralize American influence to the disadvantage of the Hawaiian government, and in an attempt to monopolize the trade of the islands. The people, however, are warmly attached to our government, and with proper management there is no reason to believe that we, at no distant day, may not succeed in adding them to our possessions on the Pacific.

The existing treaty with the Hawaiian Islands was signed on the 26th of December, 1854, and was not then exchanged at Honolulu, Aug. 21, 1856. It was to continue for twenty years, and further negotiations of ratification should be given by either party to the existing treaty. It will be for the Senate, just now, to decide whether the treaty is ratified by the Senate.

The Catholic Church at Northampton has sent a petition to the Pope for the privilege of using the Pre-testament version of the Bible in its church.

At Boston, Vt., Mr. Hunt has created in his country place one of the largest fountains in the world. The water is drawn from a mountain spring, three hundred feet above the base of the fountain, which sends a stream through an inch and a quarter nozzle to the height of one hundred and forty-four feet.

Sherdatus District.

The Secretary of War on Friday sent to the House of Representatives, in response to a resolution of July 3, copies of all the orders, despatches and communications which have been forwarded to or received from the several commanders of military districts.... The papers are quite voluminous, the bulk of them being from Gen. Sheridan, who seems to have had much more correspondence with his superiors than any other commander. Most of the important points have heretofore been made public, but the following resume of the correspondence with him will be found interesting.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sheridan, writing to Gen. Grant, asks for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sheridan that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 2d of April, Gen. Sheridan writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sheridan that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War, who says it before the election on the following day, and writes to Gen. Sherman that instructions will be given the Attorney-General concerning his opinion upon the same point presented on the 22d of March by Gen. Sherman, and now under consideration.

On the 1st of April, Gen. Sherman writes to Gen. Grant, asking for an authoritative despatch, showing who are prohibited by the military bill from voting. This letter is forwarded to the Secretary of War

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Notice.
THE city of New York, June 10, 1862.
To be sold at public auction, on Friday next,
B. W. HILLBROWNE,
Executor.

Cottage Hill Seminary,
Poughkeepsie, New York.

A
AN ENGLISH & FRENCH SCHOOL
FOR YOUNG LADIES AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS, AND A LIBRARY OF THE BEST BOOKS FOR CHILDREN, AND A PRACTICAL COURSE OF STUDY FOR THE PUPILS.—Address, COTTAGE HILL SEMINARY, COTTAGE HILL, NEW YORK.

Horse for Sale.

A BEAUTIFUL and a Saddle Horse
FOR SALE.—Address, COTTAGE HILL SEMINARY, COTTAGE HILL, NEW YORK.

To Let.

A PARLOR, Room No. 10, Second Fl., Mr. Edward Ward, 107 Broad Street, New York, for rent on rental terms.

Yes, That Is So!

Fresh Ripe Fruit

Entire Supply Insures Health and keeps the Doctor from the Door.

The price is less by half than the cost of the best fruit.

THAMES STREET & PERRY WHARF.

Apples, Peaches,

Peaches, Plums,

Berries of all kinds.

MELONS,

BANANAS, and

COCONUTS.

The Best Fresh Fruit in the City.

W. & P. BROWN,
15 BROAD STREET.

Lost.

A GOLD ENAMELED WATCH, belonging to Mr. T. J. COOPER, Esq., of Boston, Mass., was lost yesterday afternoon at 2 P.M. in this city.

Wanted.

A GOOD INGENIERIE MANUFACTURER,

to be engaged in the Manufacture of
STANDING GRASS TOE SALES.

LOTS OF 1000000 FEET OF STANDING GRASS
TOE, in the shape of a cone, for HAZARD & THOMPSON,
M. J. BROWN & CO.

W. & P. BROWN,
15 BROAD STREET.

Parade Corner Grocery.

THE SUBSCRIBER having made such arrangements in his house as will enable him to leave for a short time, has engaged a TUTOR to take care of his son, and has engaged a teacher to take care of his daughter.

GROCERIES.

Amongst his goods and the following articles will be found:—SUGARS, COFFEE, TEA, &c., &c.

COFFEE, CHOCOLATE, &c., &c.

COOKING APPARATUS, &c., &c.

DRUGS, MEDICINE, &c., &c.

